

Contents

Hans Christian Andersen in communities an introduction Anne Klara Bom & Torsten Bøgh Thomsen	1-3
Introductory lecture. The Age of Fairy Tales: Hans Christian Andersen and Community Johs. Nørregaard Frandsen	4-11
Reception
H.C. Andersen and Bulgaria. The apolitical writer and traveller meeting communities at a Bazaar Nadezhda Mihaylova	12-29
Mapping Hans Christian Andersen's A Visit to Portugal : lived and fictional spaces Sara Cerqueira Pascoal	30-45
Hans Christian Andersen in Trumpland Clara Juncker	46-63
Hans Christian Andersen and the city of Paris Kristina Junge Jørgensen	64-75
Hans Christian Andersen and his Social Reception in Austria Sven Hakon Rossel	76-88
The reception of H.C. Andersen in Russia Elena Krasnova & Elena Gurova	89-103
Analysing Andersen's works
The Family in four of Andersen's tales: An Empty Shell or a Community in a Nutshell? Poul Houe	104-118
'The fire crackles and then my muse comes to visit' Hans Christian Andersen, hygge , and the Victorian fireside Henrik R. Lassen	119-133
Andersen and the community of tellers Cyrille François	134-147

Liminality and Transgression: Spatial Analysis of Identity Formation in “The Little Mermaid” Liang Chen	148-164
Dreams and Stories in Hans Christian Andersen: Metanoia as a literary resource and community acceptance Angélica García-Manso	165-181
Hans Christian Andersen’s Use of Anthropomorphism Julia Shore Paludan	182-194
Hans Christian Andersen between a culture of meaning and a culture of presence Mogens Davidsen	195-208
Andersen across disciplines and perceptions
The Chinese Reception of “An Ethical Andersen” Zhang Shengzhen	209-217
Technologizing Cultural Consumption: The Tales and the Virtual in the East Asian Andersen Kwok-kan Tam	218-248
FairyPlay Recycling Trash in Hans Christian Andersen’s Fairy Tales and Children’s Play Herdís Toft	249-270