
Notes on Contributors

JEANETTE BICKNELL Ph.D., York University, Toronto. She is currently working on a book about understanding music.

STEINAR BØYUM Cand. philol., is a Ph.D. student in philosophy at the University of Tromsø, Norway. He specializes in aesthetics and the philosophy of education, and is currently working on a project concerning the role of philosophy in education.

ALEŠ ERJAVEC is Research Director at the Institute of Philosophy of the SRC SASA in Ljubljana (Slovenia), Professor of Aesthetics at the Ljubljana University, and Head of the Cultural Studies Department at the Faculty for the Humanities in Koper (Slovenia).

CHRISTIAN JANECKE earned his Ph.D in 1993. He is Wella-Endowment Professor of Fashion and Aesthetics at Technische Universität Darmstadt. Field of research: Contemporary Art, Performance, Stage Design, Hair and Fashion. A volume on "Performance and Image / Performance as Image" is due in spring 2003 for Verlag der Kunst, Fundus-Books (Berlin/Dresden).

SUSANNE JANSSON is Ph.D. student in Aesthetics at Uppsala University. Research project: "Instances of Recovery".

KJELL S. JOHANNESSEN is Professor of Philosophy at Bergen University. He has developed the theoretical framework for the Bergen School of Aesthetics and contributed substantially to the epistemology concerning silent knowledge. Books within the field of aesthetics include Kunst og kunstforståelse (1978), Kunstverket som estetisk objekt (1983) and (ed.), Wittgenstein and Aesthetics (1988).

BERND KLEIMANN holds a Ph.D. from the University of Gießen 2000, and is since 2001 academic research consultant at the Higher Education Information System Ltd. in Hannover. Publications in philosophical aesthetics: Der Rätselcharakter der Kunst (1996), ed., Wozu Kunst? (2001), Das ästhetische Weltverhältnis (2002).

MORTEN KYNDRUP is professor of Aesthetics and Culture at Aarhus Universitet, Denmark. He is Chairman of the Dept. of Aesthetics and Culture – Interdisciplinary Aesthetic Studies, and Director of the Doctoral School in Arts and Aesthetics, Aarhus.

MICHAEL RANTA holds a Ph.D. in the History of Art from Stockholm University. His dissertation is entitled Mimesis as the Representation of Types: The Historical and Psychological Basis of an Aesthetic Idea (2000). His publications include writings on aesthetic and art historical issues as well as art criticism.

HEIKKI SAARI is Senior Lecturer at the Department of Philosophy, Åbo Academy University. His main interests in philosophy concerns R. G. Collingwood, Ludwig Wittgenstein, philosophy of history, aesthetics and philosophy of the social sciences.