

Editors' notes

The changeover from yearbook to quarterly journal was a hectic time for all concerned with Scandinavian Political Studies. Hopefully, the teething problems are now over as we settle down to a routine with the new format. But we would like to emphasize that the success of this routine depends in the last resort upon the active cooperation of all Scandinavian political scientists. As editors, we can of course commission articles for the journal, but this takes too much time in a journal context and in the long run is not altogether satisfactory. We should therefore like to urge our colleagues to help us in the task of establishing the new journal and of advertising the research milieu and activities within Scandinavia. We are interested not only in manuscripts, but also in ideas that people may have for improving the quality of the journal.
